

Successful fractionated undiluted doses of COVID-19 vaccine in five cases of suspected allergic reactions to the first dose

Federica Rivolta¹, Camilla Cappelletti², Andrea Sangalli², Alessandra Chiei Gallo², and Valerio Pravettoni¹

¹Policlinico di Milano

²University of Milan

April 12, 2022

Abstract

After a suspected allergic reactions to first dose of mRNA COVID-19 vaccine, given the PEG skin tests negativity and tolerance in vivo to PEG containing drugs, five patients were vaccinated with the second dose of Pfizer-Biontech undergoing a fractional protocol, with antihistamine premedication, without presenting immediate or delayed reactions.

Hosted file

Successful fractionated undiluted doses of COVID.docx available at <https://authorea.com/users/390805/articles/565065-successful-fractionated-undiluted-doses-of-covid-19-vaccine-in-five-cases-of-suspected-allergic-reactions-to-the-first-dose>