

Figure 2

Figure 2a: Olfactory cleft penetration score in Mygind Vs Kaiteki head positions: In both head positions there was a considerable penetration of dye to the olfactory cleft area with a mean score of 1.34 in the mygind position and 1.76 in the kaiteki position. There was not a statistically significant difference between the two positions.

Figure 2b: OMC penetration score in Mygind Vs Kaiteki positions: The penetration scores to the OMC in the two head positions were 0.73 in the Mygind position and 0.68 in the Kaiteki position, without statistically significant difference ($P > 0.05$)