

Figure 11. A hypothetical model for the effect of waterlogging stress on the weight reduction of peanut kernel. Red indicated an increase in matter accumulation or upregulation of gene expression, while green indicated a decrease in matter accumulation or downregulation of gene expression.